BRITAIN'S WAR AGAINST ITALIANS IN AFRICA GAINS FORCE WITH NEW ADVANCES RECORDED

By The Associated Press
Britain's empire armies slashed into Italian East Africa today and massed for an apparently imminent assault on 30,000 Fascist soldiers trapped at Tobruk. North Africa, while her little ally, Greece, reported another triumph against Premier Mussolini's hard-driven legions in Albania.

Churchills pealed throughout the ancient Aegean kingdom as Greece's Premier John (Strong Man) Metaxas announced the capture of Klisura in central Albania—gateway to the Adriatic seaport of Valona.

Valona, 33 miles north of Klisura, is Italy's last big port in southern Albania.

British general headquarters in Cairo reported a "concentration" of British troops around Tobruk and said operations were continuing farther west on the Libyan desert.

Hundreds of miles southeast of Libya, other British fighting men were reported helping to carry out Prime Minister Winston Churchill's pledge to "tear Italy's African empire to tatters and shreds."

The Cairo command said that British forces had entered Buna, Kenya Colony, 100 miles south of the Ethiopian border, which the Italians have held for months, and that the Italians had fled from El Wak, on the Kenya-Somaliland frontier.

The British also reported the capture of Serobath, on the Sudan-Ethiopian border, 40 miles north of Kassala.

In London, the Air Ministry told of a series of slashing blows on Germany's vital war industries in the Ruhr and other RAF attacks on Rotterdam, Flushing, Dunkerque, Calais, Brest and Egersund on the southwest coast of Nazi-occupied Norway.

Factories, blast burners, railway and oil plants were heavily bombed in the Ruhr, the Air Ministry declared.

RAF bombers also carried out a large-scale attack on cross-channel objectives in France shortly after noon today, apparently blasting at the German-occupied port of Boulogne.

German raiders showered hundreds of incendiary bombs on London during the night, concentrating the assault on "one large district"—which British censorship kept secret—in an evident attempt to repeat the devastating "fire-raid" of December 29.

The government declared, however, that the capital's newly organized fire-bomb fighting squads doused the incendiaries almost as fast as they fell.

Senate Investigating Committee Summons Tobacco Manufacturer and New Democratic National Treasurer to Appear Today

MAY CURB LENDING

Washington, Jan. 10.—(P)—A senate investigating committee today summoned R. J. Reynolds, tobacco manufacturer and new Democratic national treasurer, to give his own explanation of $275,000 in personal loans to help re-elect President Roosevelt.

At Raleigh, N. C., Reynolds said last night, "I think I had better save whatever I have to say until I go before the committee."

Chairman Gillette (D-Ia) and other committee members told reporters that they favored tightening up limitations on loans as well as on contributions to political campaigns.

This view was expressed after the committee heard Oliver A. Quayle, the former treasurer and now general manager of the Democratic national committee, testify yesterday that Reynolds advanced loans of $75,000, $100,000 and $100,000 when Quayle telephoned him in the "last days of the campaign."

The loans, he said, financed radio time for the president.

Reynolds was appointed treasurer of the national committee last week.

BAIL SET FOR 33 IN FOOD PLOT

Large Number of Individuals Named With Eleven Baking Companies in First Indictments Obtained in Government's Nation-wide Investigation; Conspiracy to Fix and Maintain Price Levels for Bread Charged

TRIALS MAY NOT COME UP BEFORE NEXT JUNE

Philadelphia, Jan. 10.—(P)—Bail was fixed today for 33 individuals named with 11 baking companies in the first indictments obtained in the government's nation-wide investigation of food prices. Court attaches said the trials here probably would be delayed until June.

At a conference between government lawyers and Federal Judge George A. Welsh, a $5,000 bond was decided upon for all those named in yesterday's principal indictment, charging conspiracy to fix bread prices, plus an additional $1,000 for those named in a supplemental bill.

The federal grand jury's action under the Sherman anti-trust law yesterday climaxed an eight-months inquiry directed by R. McDonald Gray, special assistant in the U. S. attorney general's office, who said in a statement:

"These indictments contain allegations that the 11 companies have conspired to prevent the sale of 'day old' bread for human consumption and have either destroyed it or sold it as feed to livestock, in order to maintain price levels for fresh bread, fix uniform discount rates for bread sold to distributors for resale, interfere with the rights of the individuals to their rights to fix the terms of sale made by them."

British Offensive in Italy to Halt Nazi Invasion of England Looms as Possibility

Victories by Army of the Nile, as Well as by Greek Forces in Albania, Bring Widespread Speculation On African Campaign

PUT REICH ON SPOT

BY DREW MIDDLETON

London, Jan. 10.—(P)—A British offensive against Italy to checkmate Germany's long-threatened invasion of England is being spoken of as a possibility by military circles here as the result of recent developments in the Mediterranean area.

Victories by the army of the Nile, as well as by Greek forces in Albania, have brought widespread speculation that the end of Italian resistance in North Africa may be near.

Once the North African campaign is cleaned up, some observers believe, the Royal navy and air force may open widespread attacks on Italian ports and military centers in an all-out attempt to bring Italy to the point of surrender or revolution.

Behind the navy and air force would be Britain's Army of the Middle East, ready for an invasion of Italy either across the Mediterranean or the Adriatic.

So long as fighting on the eastern front remains localized in North Africa and Albania, the Germans can afford to discount Italian reverses as having no real bearing on the outcome of the war, military analysts point out.

Should Italy be threatened by invasion, however, Germany would find it necessary to strengthen her ally by diverting not only planes but troops to Italy, they say.

A beaten Italy, it was added, means British bombers operating from Italian airfields and British troops in the Brenner Pass.

Indiana Town Up In Arms As Silver Shirt Pelley Attempts to "Move In"

William Dudley Pelley tries to move Silver Shirt Leagues to Indiana.

Carl Losey, Pelley associate, stands beside one of the presses taken to Noblesville from the Pelley plant formerly in operation at Asheville, N. C.

Bomb Threats Are Reported Against Publishing Plant

BY L. B. NUSSBAUM
NEA Special Correspondent
Noblesville, Ind., Jan. 10.—Ten to $500 bills carefully tossed before a small town newspaper editor have led to the revelation that William Dudley Pelley is moving into Noblesville and now this town of 6000 is mad clear through.

Noblesville is so downhome, so peaceful against Pelley, founder and funder of the Fascist and anti-Semitic Silver Shirts of America, that threats to bomb the publishing plant Pelley is setting up have been reported.

Several weeks ago Pelley shipped into town under an assumed name. With several associates he tried to buy the weekly newspaper and job printing plant. The owner, Daily M. Butler, was willing to sell for a good price. There followed a mysterious after dark inspection of the plant and then Hudler was summoned to a lawyer's office to close the deal.

The lawyer, George A. Henry of Indianapolis, shipped the $10,000 in $500 bills on his desk as a down payment and Hudler's eyebrows raised.

You just don't handle that much cash and in $500 bills in the ordinary small town business deal. You use certified checks instead. Hudler became so cautious that the deal fell through.

Next the town learned the same mysterious group of men had bought an abandoned store just outside the town.

Carl Losey, former state police investigator, long-time friend and associate of Pelley, was the firm's financial "angel."

Dismal is the word for the abandoned box factory outside Noblesville purchased by the Pelley interests to house their publishing machinery.

Stephenson former Ku Klux Klan grand dragon took charge and announced he was going to publish a national magazine for businessmen giving them "the news behind the news in Washington."

Hudler's curiosity finally revealed the "Mr. Garrison" who had sought to buy his paper was Pelley.

Losey then admitted that the firm, incorporated as the Fellowship Press with Losey as president would publish Pelley's writings on "metaphysics and esoterics."

The presses and other equipment being moved into the old box factory had been shipped from Pelley's former publishing plant in Asheville, N. C.

Revelation of Pelley's connection with the venture raised a storm. The Dies Committee, which had had some dealings with Pelley back in 1939 learned of the situation and sent Wick Fowler, one of its investigators here.

The committee was particularly interested in who was financing the company and whether any subversive groups had an interest.

Losey told Fowler that Pelley was the firm's financial "angel."

Not all the town's residents apparently are content to wait for the magazine to appear as Losey is reported to have turned over to the F. B. I. a note threatening to bomb the plant.

As a result of newspaper suggestions that Pelley "get out of Indiana," Losey has redoubled the secrecy surrounding the publishing plant.

Pelley, who has taken up residence in Indianapolis continues to keep out of sight.

Authorities cannot agree as to whether the sweet potato is a native of tropical America or the East Indies.

Against a background of bold heroism, diplomatic intrigue, thrilling romance and sweeping adventure, Edward Small's latest film production, "The Son of Monte Cristo," will have its premier showing at the Library Theatre today and Saturday through United Artists release. With a stellar cast featuring Joan Bennett, Louis Hayward and George Sanders, "The Son of Monte Cristo" unfolds a story concerning the young and gallant Count of Monte Cristo son of France's greatest swordsman, and the villainous dictator of the little grand duchy of principality of Lichtenburg squeezed between the Russia of the Czar and the Germany of Bismark in the late nineteenth century. The nominal ruler, Grand Duchess Zona, played by Joan Bennett is held a virtual prisoner by the dictator, portrayed by George Sanders.

Question on Back of Drivers' License Cards Explained by Revenue Department

A new question on the back of drivers' license cards for 1941 is designed to speed up the issuance of operating permits to motorists who have figured in accidents in the past 12 months, the Revenue Department said today, at Harrisburg.

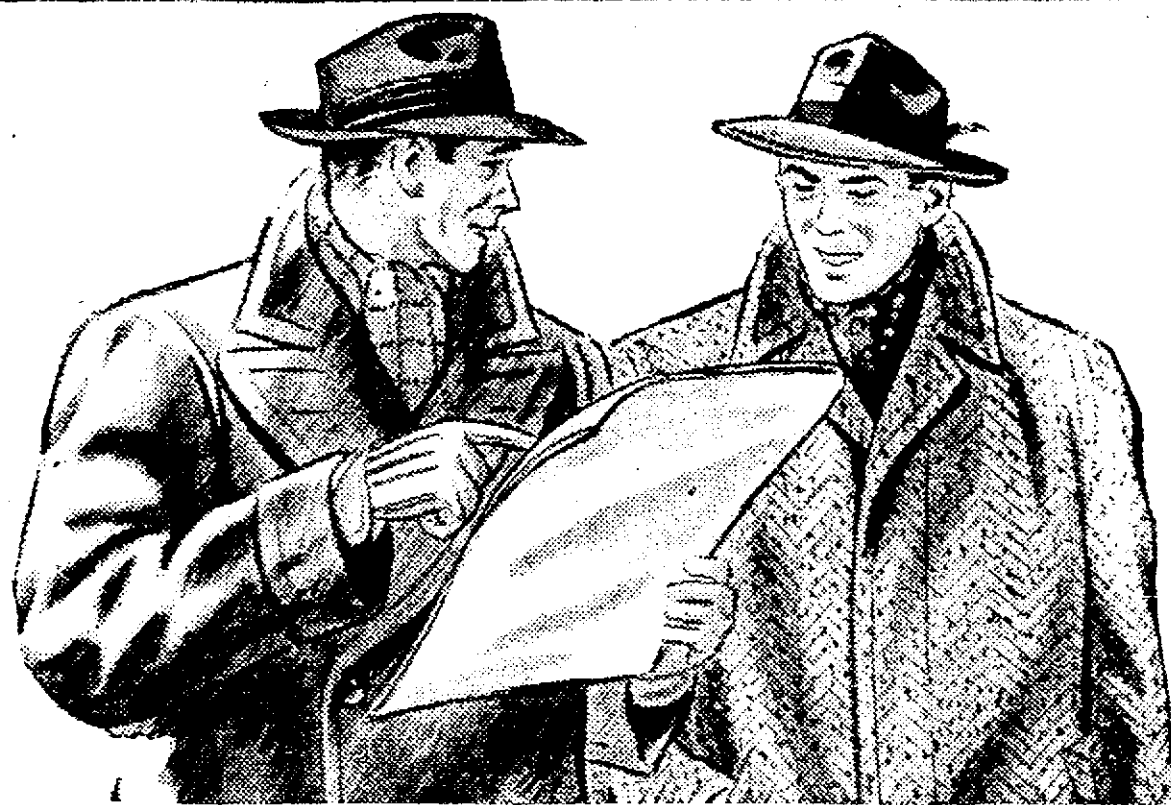

Question number three, which is to be answered only if the driving applicant has been in an accident causing personal injuries or property damage of $50 or more during the preceding year, asks: "Do you carry public liability and property damage insurance?"

An affirmative answer to that question will eliminate the necessity of a check-up by the bureau of highway safety, said the department. Such an investigation might delay the issuance of a 1941 license for 30 days or longer, a spokesman pointed out.

The reason for demanding this information is to insure the payment of claims resulting from the accident. If the question is answered negatively, safety bureau clerks must check all the details of the motorists' involvement to make certain claims or hearings have been cleared.

The motor vehicle code carries a clause requiring any person involved in an accident causing personal injuries or property damage in excess of $100 to obtain liability insurance before being licensed to drive another year.

The department emphasized that neither question three, nor the other two on the back of the renewal cards need be answered by drivers who were not involved in injurious or $50 accidents last year.

Oil City Fire Chief Forced to Retire By State Pension Law

FUTURE FARMER EVENTS PLANNED FOR FARM SHOW

Down at Oil City Albert G. Dolby retires as fire chief February first—not because he wants to—but to comply with the state law decreeing that public employees must quit work at 70 under the pension plan.

According to an Associated Press dispatch—for a stout-hearted "youngster" like Dolby, who will be "only 70" on February 12, retirement will be a sorry duty.

"Look at me—the picture of health," he boasted, flexing the muscles of his powerful arms. "Heck, I've a long way to go yet."

The vigor of his 195 pounds added weight to his words. "Why look at Captain Fisher," he went on. "He's still doing all-right."

He referred to Capt. Daniel Fisher, Oil City's first paid fire chief, who celebrated his 100th birthday Monday.

The city has had only one other chief—William T. Dolby, brother of the present chief—since the fire company changed from a volunteer to a "paid" department in 1886.

Albert Dolby, one of the oldest active fire chiefs in Pennsylvania, joined the department in 1890 and has headed it for 36 years. Starting as a "call" man—firemen paid for the number of fires they respond to—he later drove horse-drawn apparatus. In more recent years he developed the department into the completely motorized outfit it is today.

He proudly points to the low fire loss here last year—$9,000 in a city of 22,000 population. That set an all-time record in Oil City.

"Our system is to get there fast, before the fire gets a start," the chief said. "We're ready at any hour, day or night. We never slow up."

Purchasing Agents Of District to Hear Address on Defense

The Purchasing Agents' Association of Northwestern Pennsylvania will hold its second annual Salesmen's Night at the Penn Hills Club, Bradford, on Thursday, January sixteen. This local association embraces an area extending from Olean and Port Allegany to Oil City and Ridgway, with membership in all of the larger industrial and commercial firms of the section. It is a member of the National Association of Purchasing Agents, with headquarters in New York City.

For this occasion, Stuart F. Heinritz, editor of the magazine "purchasing" will come from New York to speak. The subject will be "National Defense—Our No. 1 Purchasing Job". It will trace the development of the buying organization built up to cope with the material problems of the National Defense program, the policies and personalities of that organization, its effectiveness in meeting the situation, and its effect upon the conduct of general business.

Executives, buyers and salesmen from Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Cleveland and other neighboring cities are expected to increase the attendance to well above one hundred.

WILLIE HOPPE STRICKEN WITH FLU AT TOURNEY

Chicago, Jan. 10 (AP)—Willie Hoppe is still the king of three cushion billiards, but the 53-year-old master is in no condition today to exult over his cue wizardry. Hoppe had almost completed his conquest of Challenger Jake Schaefer of Cleveland last night when an attack of intestinal influenza laid him low, bringing the title match to an abrupt conclusion.

He was removed to his hotel where a house physician described Hoppe as "a very sick man."

"He has been suffering from influenza for three days," the physician explained, "having a temperature as high as 104. He also has a slight chest condition, but it is hard to say at this time whether complications will develop. His resistance is low because he refused to go to bed."

Hoppe's 480-point match with Schaefer was in the 22nd inning of the final block of 60 points last night when he finally whispered to Referee Charles McElligott that he could not proceed. At this point Schaefer was leading 35 to 9 in the block, but Hoppe still had a cumulative margin of 429 to 380 for the entire contest which started Monday.

As soon as Hoppe was assisted from the tournament scene, Schaefer announced that he wanted no part of the title under such circumstances.

"Hoppe is still the champion," said Jake. "He is much too sick to play and he had a big lead. I wouldn't want the title under those conditions."

Hoppe was in rare form Monday and Tuesday before the illness began sapping his strength, building up a lead of more than 100 points on his long-time rival in the first half of the match.

These two veteran opponents and 16 other three-cushion stars were scheduled to begin competition next Monday in a month-long round-robin tournament for Hoppe's title. There apparently now is little chance of Hoppe participating in this event unless a postponement is arranged.

INCOME TAX WARNING

Even if you never before made an income tax return, you may be required to make one in March, so get ready.

Only the 7,000,000 people who made returns in 1940 will receive blanks from the Treasury Department. But another 8,000,000 will have to file returns this year, though they never did before, and therefore will receive no blanks. It is up to them to get the blanks themselves.

The more-than-doubled number making a return is due to the fact that this year every individual having a gross income of $800 or more, or married people living together with a combined gross income of $2000 or more, must file a return. Hitherto the figure determining whether one filed a return was a net figure, now it is gross—all income regardless of exemptions. Probably less than half of the 15,000,000 people expected to file a return this year will have to pay a tax when exemptions are taken and calculations are made. But the return must be made nevertheless.

Most of these newcomers in the Income Tax Club don't know all the angles as yet. The deadline is March 15, let us remind them, and it's not too soon to begin getting together their information and preparing to get the blank, fill it out, and file it.

Motorists who have occasion to travel U. S. Route 6 between Warren and Youngsville, learned with genuine satisfaction that flasher signals are to be installed at the dangerous Irvine crossing of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Announcement that the Pennsylvania Highway Department and the railroad company had agreed to establish the signals was made after a formal hearing on the question was scheduled to be held in Warren last Tuesday. The decision comes as a most satisfactory conclusion to a campaign that was launched some months ago by the Warren County Motor Club for better protection at the crossing.

Motorists will find a new question on the back of the drivers' license cards for 1941. This is designed to speed up the issuance of permits who have figured in accidents in the past twelve months. It is question number three, which is to be answered only if the driving applicant has been in an accident causing personal injuries or property damage of $50 or more during the year. It asks—"Do you carry public liability and property damage insurance?" If you do say yes and there'll be no holdup in your application. If you don't there may be some delay because of necessary check-ups.

Workers in churches and Sunday schools of the borough and county are again looking forward to a very helpful series of meetings when the Warren County Leadership Training School opens next Monday evening in the First Presbyterian church. Under the joint auspices of the Warren County Ministerial Association and the Warren County Council of Religious Education, the courses offered at these sessions, as taught by experienced instructors, prove highly beneficial to all who will avail themselves of the opportunity to attend.

Having held the annual meeting at which officers were chosen the Conewango Club seems launched upon another very successful year. Its membership comprising most of the progressive men of the community the club is enjoying at the present time prosperity and enthusiasm seldom excelled in the past, due to the energetic work of its officers and committees.

The cold weather has made skating possible and hundreds of young people are enjoying the favorite winter pastime. One of the popular places these evenings is the cove on Conewango creek near the Beauty building.

When weather switches into such a diversified streak as Warren has experienced during the week, watch out for colds and flu. Get plenty of rest, watch that cold, drink quantities of fruit juices.

YOUR NATION'S CAPITOL

By Bruce Catton
The Times-Mirror Washington Correspondent

CATTON HIGHLIGHTS EXIT OF TEXAN AFTER 38 YEARS

Washington, Jan. 10.—The long political life of Vice President John Nance Garner is flickering unhealthily as it burns down to the socket.

Presiding over the opening of a new session of the Senate for the last time—he returns to private life Jan. 20—Cactus Jack is a subdued and lonely figure.

For one thing, Mrs. Garner is not here.

It means more to say that about Jack Garner than it would to say it of any other man on Capitol Hill. Etta Garner has been his helpmeet in every sense of the word. She has been his secretary through all of the years of his service in Washington, and he has been down to the office half an hour ahead of him, mornings, to get his mail opened and his routine prepared.

But this year she didn't come back to Washington for the brief 18-day period that remained to him in office. She stayed in Texas, visiting her son and his family. And as the 77th Congress met in joint session to receive the President's message, Senate wives remarked to each other "Tomorrow would be the day Etta Garner would have us to lunch—if she were here."

After the session ended, the vice president jammed his gray felt hat down over those startling, gleaming-white eye brows and stalked off for the Senate office building.

STORIES IN STAMPS

Japan's Bronze Buddha Is Pictured on Stamp

ONE of the most famous of Japan's 106,518 Buddhist shrines is the colossal bronze Amita Buddha, at Daibutsu, pictured on the stamp above. This huge statue dates from the 13th century.

Japan has no state religion, but Buddhism and Shintoism are the principal faiths. The teachings of Buddha were introduced into Japan in 552, approximately 1000 years after the founder of the religion, Gautama Buddha, attained enlightenment after six years' contemplation.

Buddhism is one of the great religions of the world today, numbering 150,000,000 followers in Asia and 180,000 in North America. The founder was one of the first religious leaders to proclaim universal brotherhood.

Gautama Buddha was the son of a king, lived in the sixth century B. C. He quit his palace at the age of 30, became a religious mendicant. Finding Brahminism unsatisfactory, he sought peace in meditation, attained his goal, preached his doctrines throughout India. He died at the age of 80.

Veneration of the relics of the Buddha and his statues and prayer form the principal forms of worship in this religion. One of the Buddha's teeth was so highly prized that a war threatened over its possession.

Motorists in several western states, beset by heavy winter snows, clear their driveways with old bedspreads hitched to their cars.

The world's No. 1 woman bridge player—Mrs. R. C. (Sally) Young of Byrdwood, Pa.—lived up to her reputation in the recent national championships. While she and her teammates lost the women's team-of-four title which they won in Pittsburgh in 1939, Mrs. Young did win the mixed pair championship with Sidney Sidor of Oakmont, Pa.

Today's hand gives an example of why Mrs. Young is an outstanding player. Her method of finding the ninth trick disclosed the technique of the real expert.

The opening lead was won with the ace of spades. Mrs. Young saw that a hold-up would be bad. The diamond ten was led and held the trick. A small diamond was led and won with the jack. West discarding a club.

Hoping that East would be forced to help by the return lead, Mrs. Young led a small spade. East winning with the queen. But East brilliantly led a diamond to avoid worse leads, and South cashed the remaining diamonds, West discarding clubs.

Then Mrs. Young cashed the ace and king of clubs and led a third round. East was at last forced to lead hearts, so that the defenders could not avoid giving declarer one more trick in either hearts or spades.

SOCIETY

D. A. R. Members Hear of Interesting Work Accomplished by Approved Schools Group

The January meeting of the General Joseph Warren Chapter, National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held at the Woman's Club at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

After a short business meeting, the regent, Mrs. W. R. Carlin, turned the meeting over to the approved schools committee chairman, Mrs. Fred Schuler, who spoke of the approved schools in which the national society is interested.

Pictures of the Kate Duncan Smith School in Alabama, Tennessee and Kentucky were shown and greatly enjoyed by the members and guests. Mrs. F. A. Lesser, Mrs. William Cable and Mrs. Spencer Myer assisted Mrs. Schuler in showing these pictures.

This is the golden anniversary year of the national society and the organization is calling attention to its accomplishments, emphasizing the program of the approved schools committee. Gifts to these 15 schools from chapters in different parts of the country in the last two years have amounted to more than $170,500. With the exception of three, the institutions are located in southern mountain regions of the country, where boys and girls are taught how to live, how to read and write.

Mrs. Henry M. Robert, Jr., D. A. R. president general, describes the educational project and spirit that prompted such an enterprise. Speaking of the society's founders, she writes: "They believed confidently in the United States of America as the best government yet devised for recognition of the dignity, importance and happiness of the individual citizen. They were ready to work so that the education essential to its well being might be extended and its principles might be preserved."

Most outstanding of all the institutions is the Kate Duncan School in Alabama, remote from contact with other people. When started, the school had two teachers and 100 students of all ages. Today there are 300 pupils and 20 teachers. With the jubilee gift of 62 acres of farmland from Alabama chapters and funds from others to build new structures, the school is on the way to becoming a model institution where both adults and children may learn to live by doing, thanks to the D. A. R.

This instructive program on schools closed with a social hour and tea was served in the dining room by the January hostesses, with Mrs. F. A. Lesser and Mrs. Fred Schuler presiding.

Used clothing was brought to this meeting, to be packed and sent to the Crossmore and Tamassee schools. It was stated that if other members have such clothing they wish to send, they should call Mrs. Fred Lesser or Mrs. William Cable.

On Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. W. E. Lutz, a past regent of the chapter, entertained members of the executive committee at a business session and tea at her home, 125 Biddle street. Several names for membership were acted upon and other routine business was discussed. To conclude, Mrs. Carlin presided at the attractive tea table.

SERVICES THIS EVENING TO END WEEK OF PRAYER

A series of five special devotional and inspirational services in observance of a nationwide "Week of Prayer" will be brought to a close this evening.

Planned by a committee of the Warren County Ministerial Association, the services have been arranged in two groups, including churches of the central portion of town and those east of the Conewago Creek.

Rev. J. C. Wygant, pastor of the First Evangelical church, will speak at 7:30 o'clock this evening in the First Baptist church, having for his theme "The Church and Its Business."

The east side churches will gather at the same hour in the Church of the United Brethren to hear Rev. Irving K. Dietzsch, pastor of the Emanuel Reformed church, deliver a message on the same topic.

The fourth in the series were held last evening in the First and Grace Methodist churches. In the central gathering, Rev. J. A. Davidson, pastor of the First Baptist church, was the speaker, delivering a message on the topic "The Responsibility of America."

The lovely number sung by the choir was "Blessed Be the Lord" by Risher.

At Grace church a message on the same theme was brought by Rev. Stephen R. Schieb, minister of the Salem Evangelical church. The program also included readings with the choir chanting responses and an anthem by the choir, "The Lord's Prayer."

SMART, QUICK-TO-STITCH
APRON

Pattern 4315

BY ANNE ADAMS
Just made for pretty compliments is this beautiful apron style Pattern 4315. It's an Anne Adams creation and so attractive that you will want to keep one for yourself and make another for a girl and inexpensive gift. There's real fashion news in the long, pointed side-bodice sections. You may add pointed pockets if you like. Cut both the bodice sides and the pockets on the bias, if your fabric is checked or you might make them in a slightly contrasting, as shown in Apron B. The back bodice is in one simple piece to keep the straps firmly UP where they belong. Ruffling, tie-back or lacing are gay trimming suggestions.

Pattern 4315 is available in sizes small (32-34), medium (36-38) and large (40-42).

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—I must warn you that I have come down with the flu and that anything you read here within the next week or so will be written in bed.

I am a little sorry for those friends who have unwittingly exposed themselves to me, for I have attended parties in many of their homes, and I wouldn't be surprised if half of them are down with it now in a very few days.

As for myself, I will not pretend that the prospects of a week in bed are distasteful to me. When people think you are suffering which I am not, they bring you books and send you notes and flowers. Already I have half a dozen interesting-looking books which I have not read, including
"Frelang," and "Embezzled Heaven," and "For Whom the Bell Tolls." I also have an elephant with a red ribbon around his neck and sprouting a small century plant which has five shoots. And one of my friends has also brought me a portable transmitter to use in bed, mine being at the office and unavailable.

So you can see that the prospects of the days just ahead are not altogether unattractive. I feel no pain, and the only aches and pains are swollen to half again their normal size. I would never know anything was the matter with me but for the morose looks of my friends when they first came upon me or the evidence to be found everywhere I go into a million.

The postman came with today's mail, and I found a letter from Frank Smith, editor of the American Press, and Charles Law, which is my old home town from Joe Graham in California, and to whom I am indebted for as handsome a fitted traveling case
as I have ever seen from Moyn Holt, the dancer, Woody Herman, the orchestra leader, and Omer
C. Orr, a St. Joseph, Mo., boy made good in the big city and now lives in Los Angeles.

When the postman came back again he brought a new album of recordings by Andy Iona and his orchestra, and also some recordings by Bonnie Baker and by Ray Kovar. The Bonnie Baker recording reminded me of a polite and I suppose entirely excusable limbo she told me when she was in New York. There was so much talk about her being married to Orin Tucker, the orchestra leader, that I asked her whether it were true. "No," she said, and her eyes became solemn as owls. "I'm not married. I'm not engaged.

I'm not even in love. I'm just one of the gang." I then said, "I can print this in good faith, can't I?"
"Sure," she told me. "I really can't say." Well, according to the news stories recently, Bonnie was just "one of the gang."
But then what of it? I never could hold grudges against brides anyway.

WITH my head puffed out like a pillow I am naturally not reading and on the end of the week I expect to be able to pay for my stay at least. I heard and saw great news last. I remember reading somewhere once that coffee and fat-tallowing hairs and hair were indications of longevity and being young at the time I had never considered about it. I had a friend who had just turned 60 and was as active and energetic as a 30-year-old boy.

The only medicine that's doing me any good is a combination of my own body and a little bit of coffee. I have been drinking a lot of coffee and it's doing me
good. I have been drinking a lot of coffee and it's doing me
good. I have been drinking a lot of coffee and it's doing me
good.

YESTERDAY: David and Polly have postponed their marriage once more, although this time all David's indignant relatives had cleared away, and things looked rosy. But at the last minute Peter Wiley, David's 9-year-old cousin from Pennsylvania, showed up and the ceremony was off. Besides, Margo Powers, daughter of David's employer has returned to town. Peter just has come to Polly with a message from David.

Chapter Eight Picnic

"YOU have? What is it?" Polly asked.

"He said," Peter went on, "for you to be all ready to go out to the Inn when he got off from the mill. We're going to have a picnic."

"Oh, fine!" said Polly. "I'd love to."

Peter looked around the tea-room. "Don't you eat your supper here?" he asked.

"No," said Polly. "We only serve lunch. Most folks in Ardendale like to eat their supper at home."

Peter turned to go. He looked back and said: "Please don't keep us waiting. We men like to do things on time."

"I'll not keep you waiting a minute," Polly promised. And then she said: "You don't like women very much, do you, Peter?"

"Oh, they're all right," said Peter. "Only us men—us bachelors, like Cousin David and me—manage pretty well without them."

"I see," said Polly. "I'll try not to be too much in the way, Peter." For a moment Peter looked as though he wanted to say something. But he didn't. That is, all he said was, "Goodbye." Then he hurried out.

"I don't think he likes me even a little bit," Polly told herself. She then went out into the kitchen. "Martha," she said to the cook, "I'm going on a picnic tonight. How about some of that chicken that was left over?"

"Shore, honey," said Martha. "I got two pieces of breast, three wings and a drumstick." Polly said: "That's splendid. Polly said: 'Wrap them up in oil paper for me, will you? And three pieces of that Lady Baltimore cake, too.'"

"Yas'm," said Martha. "I'm blowing myself," Polly said. "I'm trying to make a hit with a young man, and—"

"Lawdy, honey! Is you and Mister David done broke up?"

"Oh, no, nothing like that. It's a man much younger than David—that cousin of his."

"Oh, hum," Martha shook her head slowly. "Hit shore is a shame he's all crippled-like. He's such a sweet little boy."

"Yes, isn't he?" said Polly. "I'll come back for the chicken and the cake, Martha. I've got to go and charge it to myself before I forget."

Martha sniffed. "If you ask me," she said, "old Miss Waters ought to give it to you. You shore works hard enough for her."

"She pays me for what I do," Martha, Polly said. "Besides, there's not a lot of profit in food nowadays."

"Humph!" said Martha. Polly went back to the cashier's desk.

It was going to be fun having a picnic supper with David and Peter. She hadn't been on a picnic in a long, long time. She smiled, and thought of various ways which might help her to win Peter over. She had to make him like her. If he didn't, she and David would never be happy together. Not that their love for each other was any less. No, it wasn't that. But David loved Peter. That was easy to see. He had become terribly attached to the small boy during the short while Peter had been in Ardendale. And she knew what it did to people when a third person came along, a person who loved one of the other two, but not both of them.

Bad News

MISS LUCY WATERS came in from doing some marketing. "Did you have a good lunch?" she asked in her usual prim manner.

"Yes, Miss Lucy," Polly replied. "Six more lunches sold than yesterday. The men coming in helps a lot."

The owner of the tea-room came behind the desk, lifted the top of the cash register, and looked at the amount indicated therein.

"Well, it could be better," she remarked.

"By the way, Miss Lucy," Polly said, "I'm having Martha tie me up six pieces of chicken left over from lunch, and three slices of Lady Baltimore cake. I want them for a picnic. What shall I charge myself for them?"

"Six pieces of chicken and three slices of cake," said Miss Lucy. "Let me see—Oh, since it's you, Polly, just make it fifty cents."

"Thank you," said Polly. "I'll put a slip in the register. You can take it out of my pay Saturday."

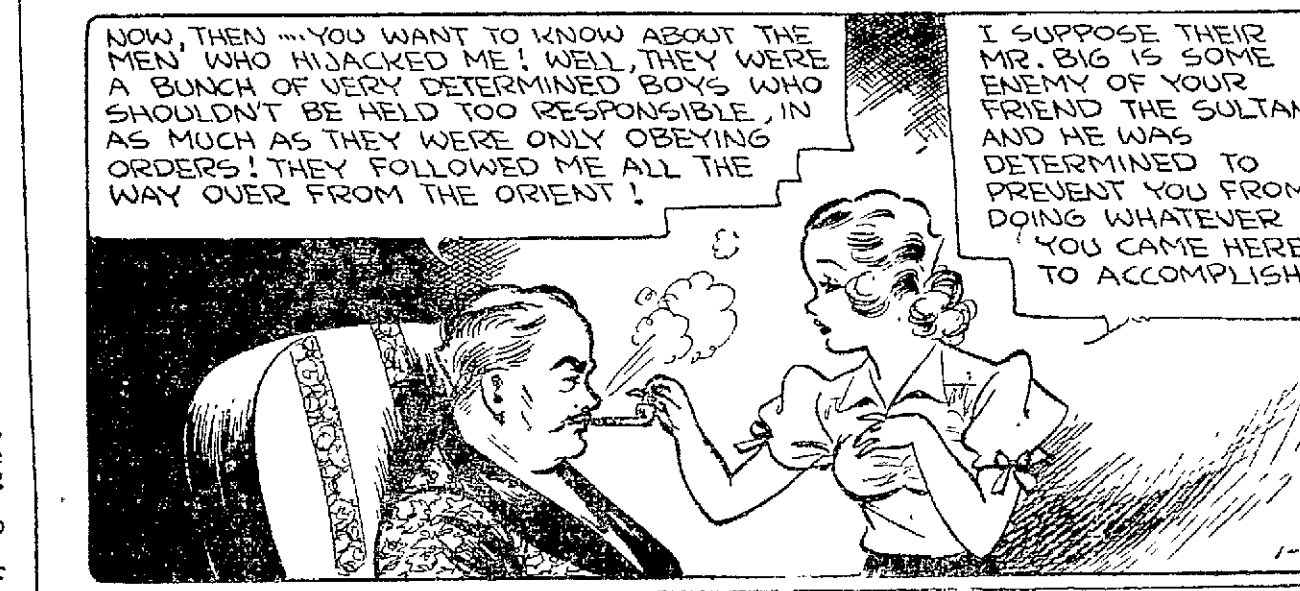

"Very well," said Miss Lucy. She started for the kitchen, but turned and said: "I had a letter from my niece today, the one I told you wants to come and spend the summer."

DUNKIRK WINNER OVER PATTERSONS

The Dunkirk Shamrocks took the measure of the Pattersons last night at Dunkirk, 41-23. Held to one local field goal in the first half and trailing 25 to 2, the locals came back valiantly in the final half partially to close the gap.

"Tink" Wolfe's and Collins' ten points were tops for the Pattersons. A meeting of the team will be held tonight at eight o'clock at the line store with the following asked to be present: McKeehan, Zerbe, Elmo Wolfe, "Tink" Wolfe, Ritchie, Duff, Warren Check, Louie Check, Christiansen, Zerbe and Dick Driscoll.

WINTER GOLF COURSE
Harrisburg, Jan. 10.—Free instruction in golf will be given in the Museum Building of Pittsburgh's South Park beginning January 18. The State Department of Commerce has been advised. Wednesday afternoon classes will be for women and Saturday and Sunday instruction will be for men. Classes for juniors of high school age will be held Saturday evening. There is no charge to residents of Allegheny county. Lessons are under the supervision of the County Parks Recreation Department as part of their winter "learn-to-play" program.

PLANS NAME CHANGE
Pittsburgh — Alexis Thompson, young owner of the Pittsburgh Steelers professional football team, plans to change the club's name at a christening party Jan. 12. The name was changed from Pirates to Steelers a year ago to avoid confusion with the city's baseball club.

SPORT SPATTERINGS

Johnny Nelson, Jr., sports editor of the Bradford Era, who has never been known to sell the Owls short in any sport, comes front and center to pick the Bradford High cagers to finish in third place in the North League pennant race. Of course, none of us feels that the Bradacens are out of the chase entirely, and Nelson admits the Bradford quint will be up in there battling. However, Johnny's choice is the Dragons to repeat, with Johnsonburg the most promising contender. The Johnnies have eight experienced players, including Frank Gigliotti, who was second high scorer last year. Johnny Kroah, Bill Grumley, George Franczak, Joe Manno and Bob Zelenoski. The Jays started out with five victories this year, but were rudely upset at Mt. Jewett in their last start, which shows that they are not invincible. After all, Mt. Jewett is supposedly Class "B".

We'll make no flat-footed guesses, especially when we thought the Dragons would win the first half and lose the second last season, and were pleasantly surprised after they reversed the semesters. However, if the Blue and White hoopers are going to pick out one or the other, they should have their best chance in the first round. Of course, they lose Cliff Graham and Gail Templeton at mid-term, but last season they operated without Harold Brown, Ken Christiansen, Bill Lundahl, Bud Elmquist, Jim Greenlund in the second half, but snatched the consolation. Our prediction is based on the schedule which brings both Bradford and Johnsonburg to the local court, as well as Kane, while Ridgway, Emporium, St. Marys and Sheffield will be invaded. Incidentally, Emporium may be a dark horse. Wilcox has been giving plenty of teams a tough battle, but the Tubers whipped them, 41-32.

The Big Ten averages in the Inter-City Bowling League reveal not a single Warren kegler—a very unusual situation. At the end of the first half, Pete Juliano was the closest to being in the select circle. Pete, who jells with the Koch's-Texas Lunch crew, is averaging 188 ball, while Olson of the Bradford Moose, ranks No. 10 with 183.3. Myron Check, of the Texas outfit, is next high local pinster, with 187.6 and his teammates, Harold Clepper and Dick Check, have averages of 186.6 and 186.8. Next in line are Barney Malone, of the Marconi Club, with 185.6, and Harry Wooster, of the Koch's-Texas with 185.7. Norm Wooster, the other member of the defending champions, is down to 182.5. Marconi averages follow: Leo Weidert 180.4, Graebner 175.7, Frank Willard 180.3, Sam Cosmano 181.

The Koch's-Texas team wound up the first half in fifth place, seven games behind the Lafayette Inn, the winner. The Marconi Club was in the with two others for seventh, 13 games off the pace. The official standings will be found in the bowling column today.

YEARS AGO IN SPORT
January 10, 1921—Hoff's Business College, composed of Peterson, Fisher, Kendig, Burns and McNulty, took a basketball decision from Ridgway High Saturday night at Ridgway, 36-34. Kendig racked up 16 points for the local clegians.

January 10, 1931—Warren and Youngsville High lost their second league games of the season last night, Youngsville bowing to Erie Strong Vincent, 69-11, and the Dragons dropping one to Academy, 30-19. Caldwell, with five field goals and foul, got eleven of Warren's points. Scallise and Kopf each counted once from the floor. Beck was high man for Academy.

Kirbergers took three from the Cochran Barbers in the Elks Loyal Knight League last night and strengthened their hold on first place. Their lead is now nine full games over the New Process, which dropped four to Hultmans, and the Tailors themselves. Beckleys copped four from the Times-Mirror, and Darlings gave up all points by a forfeit to Harvey & Carey. Hultman's 233 and Willard's 586 were top individual scores of the evening.

The Warren County News and Rich's Atlantic Station, two of four leaders at the end of the first week of the Commercial League second half, divided the leadership between them last night by splitting even as the National Forge and the O. K. Service gave up their advantage by bowing for three points to Sherwood Refining and the Newell Press. In the fourth match West Ridge lost a narrow 3-5 to Olson & Bjers. High game was rolled by Check whose 222 combined with 209 and 194 gave him best block of 625.

Fistic Spotlight On Garden Ring As Nova Battles In Comeback

BY GAYLE TALBOT
New York, Jan. 10.—(A)—If he is two-thirds the man he was back in the summer of 1938, Lou Nova should haul off and knock young Pat Comiskey about halfway of their 10-round brawl in Madison Square Garden tonight.

If Nova has recovered completely from the poison that ravaged his system and sent him to the hospital at the height of a promising heavyweight career, then it shouldn't take him quite that long to dispose of the New Jersey boy. When he was going hell-bent toward a title match with Joe Louis two summers ago, Nova out-gamed Maxie Baer on an old-fashioned slugging match and cut Maxie up so that the referee stopped it in the 11th round.

Since then Baer walked out and blasted Comiskey into defeat in less than a round, just when Comiskey's New Jersey following thought he was ripe for a go at the championship. So, off those two fights, Nova must be rated an overwhelming choice over the tall, solemn boy he faces tonight.

The drawback lies in the fact that nobody—probably not even Nova, himself—knows whether the Alameda, Calif., fighter has recovered the health and the ruggedness that were his before the combination of Tony Galento's fists and septic poisoning made a physical wreck of him.

Since leaving the hospital Nova has had one so-called tune-up out on the coast, in which he knocked out Johnny Erjavec in five rounds. They say it was pretty terrible, proving only that Lou still could walk and talk after his 13-month lay-off.

In his workouts here Nova has impressed some and depressed others. He says he is in the pink again. The gamblers obviously don't think so, for most of them were making Comiskey a slight favorite at last reports.

Sports Round-up

At the N. Y. boxing writers' dinner last night, at which Henry Armstrong was given the Edward J. Neil memorial trophy for doing the most for boxing last year, President Murray Lewin of the Daily Mirror opened proceedings by ringing the bell the timekeeper used at New Orleans, Sept. 7, 1892, when James J. Corbett won the heavyweight championship by knocking out John L. Sullivan in 21 rounds. Football preview: Harry Stuhldreher, Wisconsin coach, thinks it will be Minnesota and Northwestern in the Big Ten this fall. In their first five games of the season, the Kent State cagers had five different high point men.

PROGRESS GOOD
Harrisburg, Jan. 10.—(P)—Rep. J. Buell Snyder, Perryopolis, chairman of the house military appropriations committee, says progress at the Indian Gap military reservation is as good, if not better, than any other army camp he has visited. Snyder came here after inspecting the reservation which will be used for Guardsmen, probably starting next month. The congressional member has traveled more than 50,000 miles in the past year inspecting army posts and camps.

RAF Bombers Claim Heavy Assaults on Industries in Ruhr

as having paved the way for the seizure of Tepele, twin mountain citadel 15 miles west, and the cracking of the whole Italian defense line.

Premier Mussolini's high command omitted mention of this latest blow at Fascist arms. Instead the high command's daily war bulletin declared Italian planes and naval units bombed a British battleship in the eastern Mediterranean, sank two submarines and two freighters and torpedoed two other merchantmen.

The battleship, unidentified, was reported hit despite "violent anti-aircraft reaction" in an attack on a large British naval formation.

Britain's war against the Italians in Africa gained momentum with the advance guard of the forces in Libya stabbing 40 miles beyond besieged Tobruk. That spearhead, Cairo observers believed, was aiming for the coastal road below Bengasi, 300 miles within Libya from the Egyptian border.

Hitler's high command acknowledged that RAF bombers raided "various places" in western Germany, inflicting a toll of 20 killed and many wounded.

After a 3-day lull, Nazi warplanes violently renewed their night attacks on Britain, the German high command said, blasting particularly hard at Manchester, Liverpool and London.

The German communiqué insisted that the RAF failed to hit any military or military-economic objectives, asserting that the damage fell on apartment houses, Bethlehem Cloisters near Cologne and Catholic Journeymen's Home at Dusseldorf, which was destroyed.

RAF pilots gave a different picture. They said that an oil plant at Gelsenkirchen and other objectives in the Ruhr were pounded, and that bombs were also dropped on docks at Brest, France, and on oil targets at Rotterdam, Holland.

London dispatches described the Nazi Luftwaffe's overnight raids as among the biggest and most widespread in recent weeks, with Liverpool raided at frequent intervals over a period of several hours and German bombers fanning out over the island kingdom from Wales to northeast England.

A British communiqué, however, declared casualties were "nowhere large."

Senator Hill (D-La.) protested that the only difference between Republicans and Democrats was that "Republicans can get the money, while we (Democrats) have to go out and borrow it." He said committee investigators had reported that Lamont and Treneer du Pont, Delaware industrialists, and the "Pew family of Philadelphia" had made separate contributions of "thousands of dollars to Republican groups in many states."

Much of the demonstrating occurred during the question and answer period following the formal speeches.

Considerable interest centers throughout this section in a proposal by Governor Arthur H. The highway, it is believed would pass through or near Corry. It is expected to be one of the items of the highway program which will receive consideration along with the proposed extension of the present super-highway west to the Ohio line and east to Philadelphia, and the extension of skyline drive north to the Delaware Water Gap.

Bill Gives President Almost Free Hand in British Aid Program which our army and navy could use."

Barkley said the measure contained no waiver of the wage-hour law, the Walsh-Healey public contracts act or the Wagner Labor Relations act.

Mr. Roosevelt, besides discussing the aid-to-Britain legislation, announced that he had signed a proclamation requiring copper, brass, bronze, zinc, nickel, and potash to be exported only under export licenses, effective February 3. These materials, he said, are needed for American defense.

The president told reporters that he did not necessarily view the powers apparently contained in the British aid bill, but that somebody must have it in order to take quick action.

He replied in the negative when asked whether the legislation would have the effect of repealing the neutrality act ban against loans to belligerents and the Johnson act prohibition against credits to World War debt defaulters.

In reply to a question from Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), Barkley said it was planned to have the House and Senate foreign affairs committees consider the legislation simultaneously in order to speed action.

In the Senate the bill was offered by Barkley himself, and in the House by Rep. McCormack (D-Mass.), the majority floor leader.

Asked whether the bill would permit lending of destroyers, Mr. Roosevelt said no one had suggested that and there was no reason to discuss it now.

He said he thought speed was a great essential in enacting the new law because it related primarily to the placing of new orders in this country which would require many months before a start could be made to fill them.

Every week that goes by without action, he said, means a week's delay in the appropriations to come later, and a similar delay in placing orders, deliveries, and all down the line in the transaction.

The bill would merely authorize expenditures to carry out the program, he made plain, saying the government could not do a single thing until appropriations were made.

He did not want to push anybody, he said, but he thought that time gained now meant time gained at the other end.

MUNICIPAL SERVICE RESUMED IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Jan. 10.—(P.)—All municipal services were resumed on a normal basis today after settlement of a short-lived strike that affected 5,194 city employees.

Six hours after union workers struck in protest against pay cuts yesterday the contending parties agreed on a wage scale that Mayor Edward J. Kelly said was almost what the city wanted.

A few hours later the city council adopted a 1941 budget of about $54,000,000, which represents a reduction of $2,000,000 from the 1940 budget, and included pay cuts estimated at $500,000.

TITUSVILLE OIL REPORT IS SOON TO BE PRINTED

Harrisburg, Jan. 10.—Secretary of Internal Affairs William S. Livingston, Jr., has just sent to press an important addition to the crude oil literature of Pennsylvania, in the form of "A Report on the Oil Geology of the Titusville Quadrangle."

The report is mainly the work of Parke A. Dickey, under the direction of Dr. George H. Ashley, Chief of the Bureau of Topographic and Geologic Survey, and represents long investigation and extensive study. Oil experts who have reviewed the manuscript unite in pronouncing it an outstanding survey, which should aid greatly in the increase of crude oil production by secondary processes. Livingston said.

In the area discussed air and gas have been used in place of water to get oil to the surface but many problems have been encountered. The oil sands are not uniform in permeability. Air and gas under pressure pass readily through the more permeable layers and by-pass the denser layers, where most of the oil still remains. How to induce the oil to leave the denser measures is a first problem, but only one.

Unlike most of the oil deposits of the Southwest, those of Pennsylvania are only slightly related to structure. As developed in this report, relations to the old shore lines, to thickness of beds and other conditions existing when the oil-bearing sandstones were laid down may play a much more important part in oil recovery than structures.

The third problem is to forecast the quality of oil in a pool that already has had its day. Secondary methods of recovery are expensive. It is desirable to know in advance that there is enough oil in a given pool in a given sand to warrant the high cost of recovery. These are some of the matters dealt with in the report.

Dealing with the oldest oil field in the world, and one concerning which a large amount of information is available, it becomes of more than ordinary interest outside of Pennsylvania, as well as within. It is believed the conditions described and the solutions offered will be of interest to oil men everywhere.

Because of the growing demand for Pennsylvania crude as the basis of very high grade lubricating oil and its growing use as American aviation needs increase, Secretary Livingston has asked the printers to hasten publication as a contribution to national defense.

Timeliness Keynote Of Many New Books At Public Library

Timeliness is the keynote of five of the new books for circulation at the public library on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. They all have a sound and balanced point of view so essential for the cultivation of the democratic spirit.

Zero Hour is an adventure in thinking by six very different minds in an attempt to clarify certain pressing American issues. The title springs from their feeling that there is a crisis in our national life and it is now. That this is a war of minds and ideas as well as a war of bombs and shells links the thoughts of Stephen Vincent Benet, the poet; McGeorge Bundy, Yale graduate; William L. White, noted editor; Garrett Underhill, military commentator for Life magazine; Walter Millis, war analyst; and Erika Mann, member of the world's most famous literary family.

The gifted New York Times representative in the Far East has rendered a really important and certainly very timely service to the American public in his new book, Our Future in Asia. This "book scoop" of the year appeared simultaneously with the announcement of the German-Italian-Japanese alliance. But Robert Anna Smith has given us no slapdash journalism but an extraordinarily careful and thoughtful survey deserving all the praise he has received.

So deeply moved was Playwright Robert Sherwood by the Russo-Finnish war that "There Shall Be No Night" was written in a few weeks. Even those who have been fortunate enough to see Alfred Lunt's and Lynn Fontanne's memorable performance in the Theatre Guild production should enjoy reading this play which has stirred so many audiences.

Probably no book on the European scene has been read more widely than John Gunther's Inside Europe. The library has the new 1940 war edition. The report of the New York Herald Tribune's Forum on Current Problems is now available in America's Second Fight for Freedom.

The gifted English writer, Virginia Woolf, has refrained from dazzling us with her own brilliance and has carefully kept her subject in the foreground in her biography of Roger Fry. It is a tranquil, distinguished study of the great English art critic and painter.

The other books for circulation Saturday are William Rose Benet's With Wings as Eagles, a collection of poems on aviation and a new edition of French and Stevenson's Mechanical Drawing.

MANGRUM'S 67 LOW IN OAKLAND OPEN

Oakland, Calif., Jan. 10.—(AP) Faced by Lloyd Mangrum, a little fellow with an impressive golfing punch, the country's leading links men took a fresh grip on their clubs today for a second-round whirl with par in the 55,000 Oakland 72-hole open tournament.

Mangrum, a professional at Oak Park, Ill., whacked a nifty 67, three under par on the Sequoyah course, in his opening effort. It was good enough to lead a field of more than 200.

A disconcerting wind and rain-soaked course added to the woes of the players in the opening round, but six, including Mangrum, shaded par figures of 35-35-70.

They were Harold McSpaden of Winchester, Mass., and E. J. "Dutch" Harrison, of Little Rock, Ark., tied at 68, and three 69-shooters, Jimmy Demaret, of Houston, Tex., defending tournament champion, Jimmy Thomson, of Chicago, Mass., and Mike De-massy, of San Luis Obispo, Calif.

The field was reduced to 110 pros and 25 amateurs for the second round.

Drinking water costs the state of New York twice as much as the gasoline used in its motor vehicles.

Thirty-five per cent of the motor vehicles in New England are owned in cities of between 2500 and 25,000 population.

PLAY BRADFORD

The remodeled 1940-41 Wolverine varsity basketball team will receive its first test Friday night this week at Bradford where the locals will be pitted against the Bradford Hi Owls in one of the inaugural games of the District 9 league campaign, which gets underway that evening. Revision of the Wolverine team was brought about recently when Coach Tom Drummond found it necessary to suspend six key players, three of them regulars. The lineup which will start against the Owls Friday is expected to consist of Jimmy Campasino and Joe Yusko, forwards; Mike Steffan, center; John Sorvelli and George Olson, guards. Bradford, runnerup to last year's champion Warren Dragons, is a favorite to cop the championship this season.
